9	Jill Greimel	Chen Report at 56 (identifying Congressional District 9 as a partisan outlier); see also id. at 66-68, 73-75	Warshaw Declaration & Chart	Vatter Decl. ¶¶ 1 & 27 (noting that Republicans packed this district by merging two Democratic districts)	•LaBrant Dep. II 221:20-222:5 (discussing pairing of two Democrats, Gary Peters and Sandy Levin); •Exhibit 29 (email exchange between Timmer and Jamie Roe with a “reconfigured map” from Timmer, with Roe responding: “perfect. it’s giving the finger to sandy levin. I love it.”); •Exhibit 20 (email discussing the swapping of precincts between districts “with virtually zero impact on the political data ... [t]he big difference is that Peters would be in the 9th along with Levin and Marty.”)

II 224:19-225:14 (“Tuscola County sometimes had...been represented by Democrats. [But] this probably is a more Republican district than with this configuration.”)
	Jack Ellis
	Roger Brdak
11	Barbara Pearson	Chen Report at 56 (identifying Congressional District 11 as a partisan outlier); see also id. at 66-68, 73-75	Warshaw Declaration & Chart	Vatter Decl. ¶¶ 21 & 29-30 (noting that this is a cracked district created in 2001 to help elect the Republican Chair of the Senate Redistricting Committee)	•LaBrant Dep. II 223:19-23 (Rep. McCotter wanted to influence the shape of the district in a way that would have violated congressional redistricting standards); LaBrant Dep I 69:19-24 (“I think that the district, the eleventh district, as it was drawn in 2011 and enacted into law, probably had a baseline that favored a Republican.”); •Exhibit 28 (email from Timmer with latest draft of District 11, including political data); •Exhibit 23 (email from LaBrant to Timmer discussing Rep. McCotter's suggested district and noting that the 10-4 map drawn by the RNC would not work in part because “we needed for legal and PR purposes a good looking map that did not look like an obvious gerrymander”); •Exhibit 22 (email from Timmer to LaBrant changing the 11th Congressional district, outlining the “ripple effects”, and also “a chart comparing the McCain and Bush numbers in all three” versions of the plan he attached); •Exhibits 24 (“Certianly shores up Thad [McCotter]'s district well.”), 25 (“All GOP seats improve McCotter's district cannot get better unless we put Ottawa County in it”); •Exhibit 158 (lengthy exchange among Timmer, LaBrant and individuals with the Michigan Congressional delegation over Congressional plan, specifically noting that some districts are left as they were in the previous plan and with Jim Brandell complaining that “Your map has Peters and Thad in the same district which can’t happen, despite how strong a Republican district it is”); •Exhibit 17 (email from Jack Daly, Chief of Staff to US Rep. McCotter, to Timmer dated March 23, 2011: “In a glorious way that makes it easier to cram ALL of the Dem garbage in Wayne, Washtenaw, Oakland, and Macomb counties into only four districts. Is there anyone on our side who doesn’t recognize that dynamic?”)
